

a) What is your biggest takeaway message from each of the tasks for this assignment?

This assignment reiterated the importance of researching the functionality beforehand, as D3 is something we haven't worked with before, so we had to learn about a lot of the functionality for the first time. This process of research helped us gain a deeper understanding of D3 and the functionality it provides.

b) Did both of you put your best effort into this assignment? If not, what obstacle got in your way and how can you avoid it in future assignments?

Yes, we both worked very hard on this assignment and collaborated well to finish. We worked together over zoom, and pushed content back and forth to complete the rest.

c) (Each partner individually) Name one contribution your partner made to this assignment that you are proud of.

I am proud of Neals for figuring out the hover functionality for both the scatter plot and bar chart. I am proud of Lauren for figuring out how to do the click functionality and adding points for the scatter plot
